

Sesame Street and Autism see amazing in all children

For more, visit
sesamestreet.org/autism
#SeeAmazing

Playing Outside

The sun is out! Julia and her dad are going to play in the park. They look at the poster to remind Julia of the rules.

Julia's dad helps her put on her mask. She can almost do it by herself now.

Julia holds dad's hand as they walk to the park. She waves to her friends instead of running up to them, like she wants to.

When they get to the park, Dad spreads out a blanket. Julia remembers to stay on it. It's bubble time—and Julia's a great bubble-popper!

