

Produced by

In partnership with

The LEGO Foundation

Colors of the Sky

play to learn

|

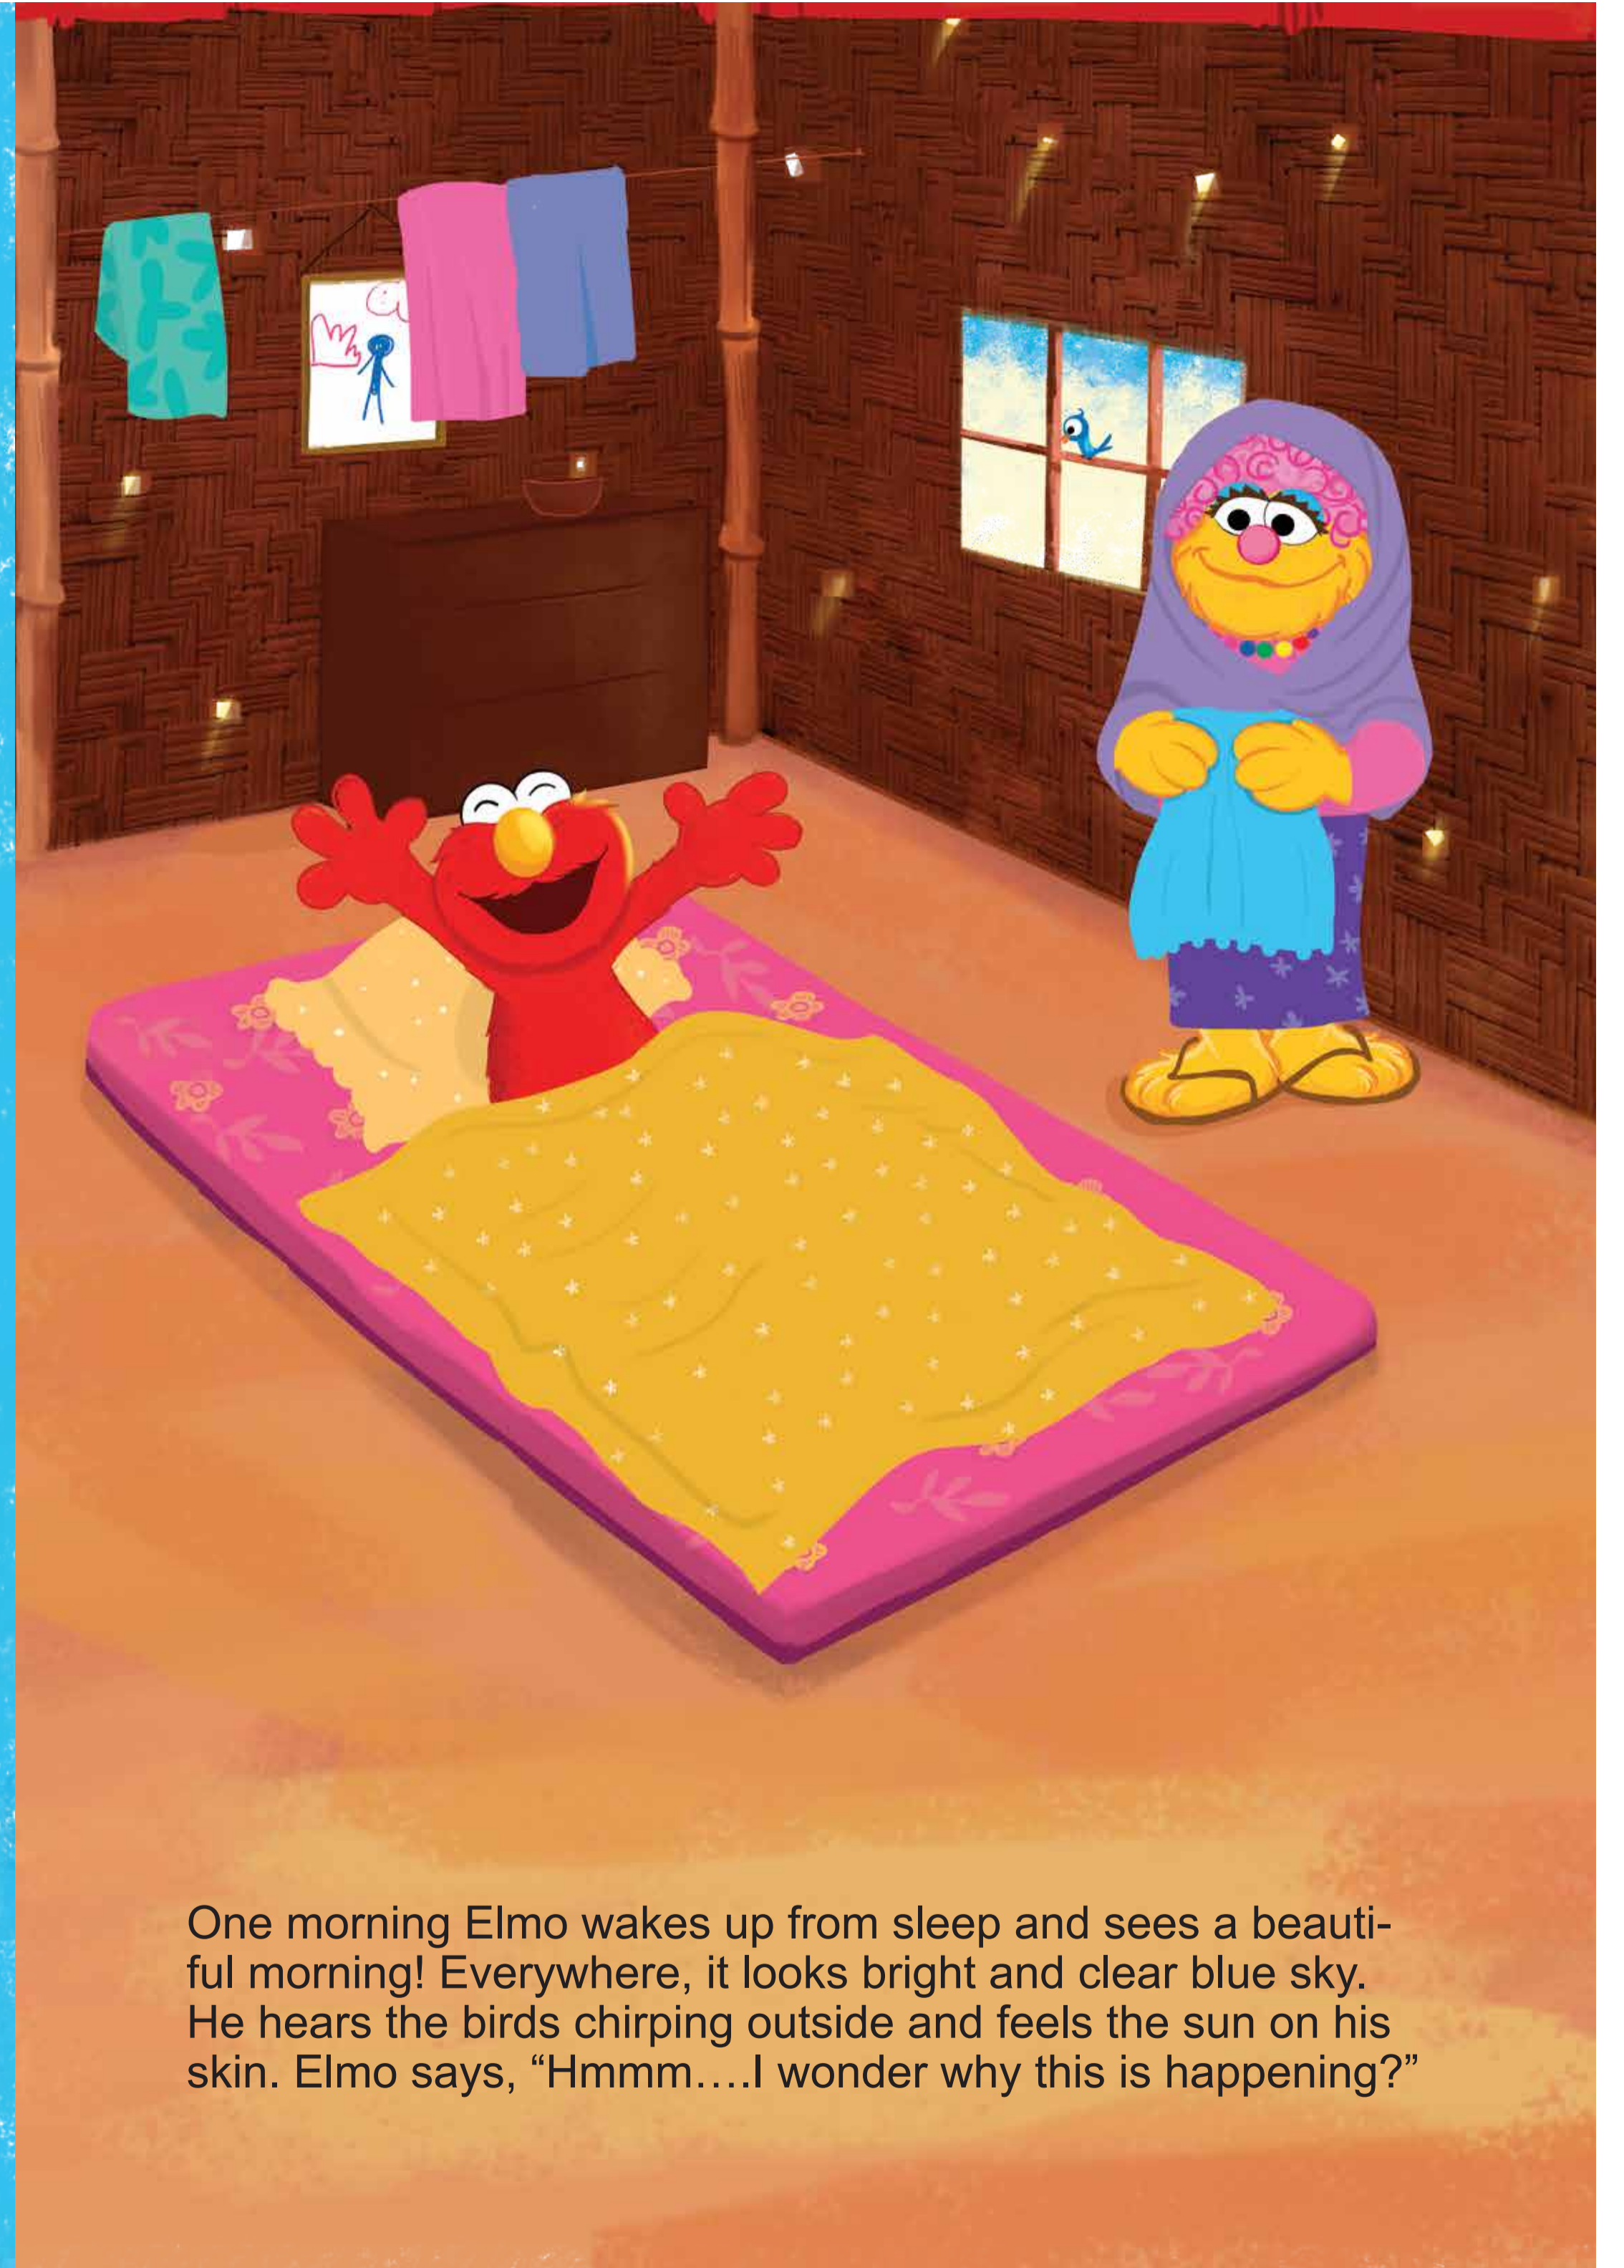

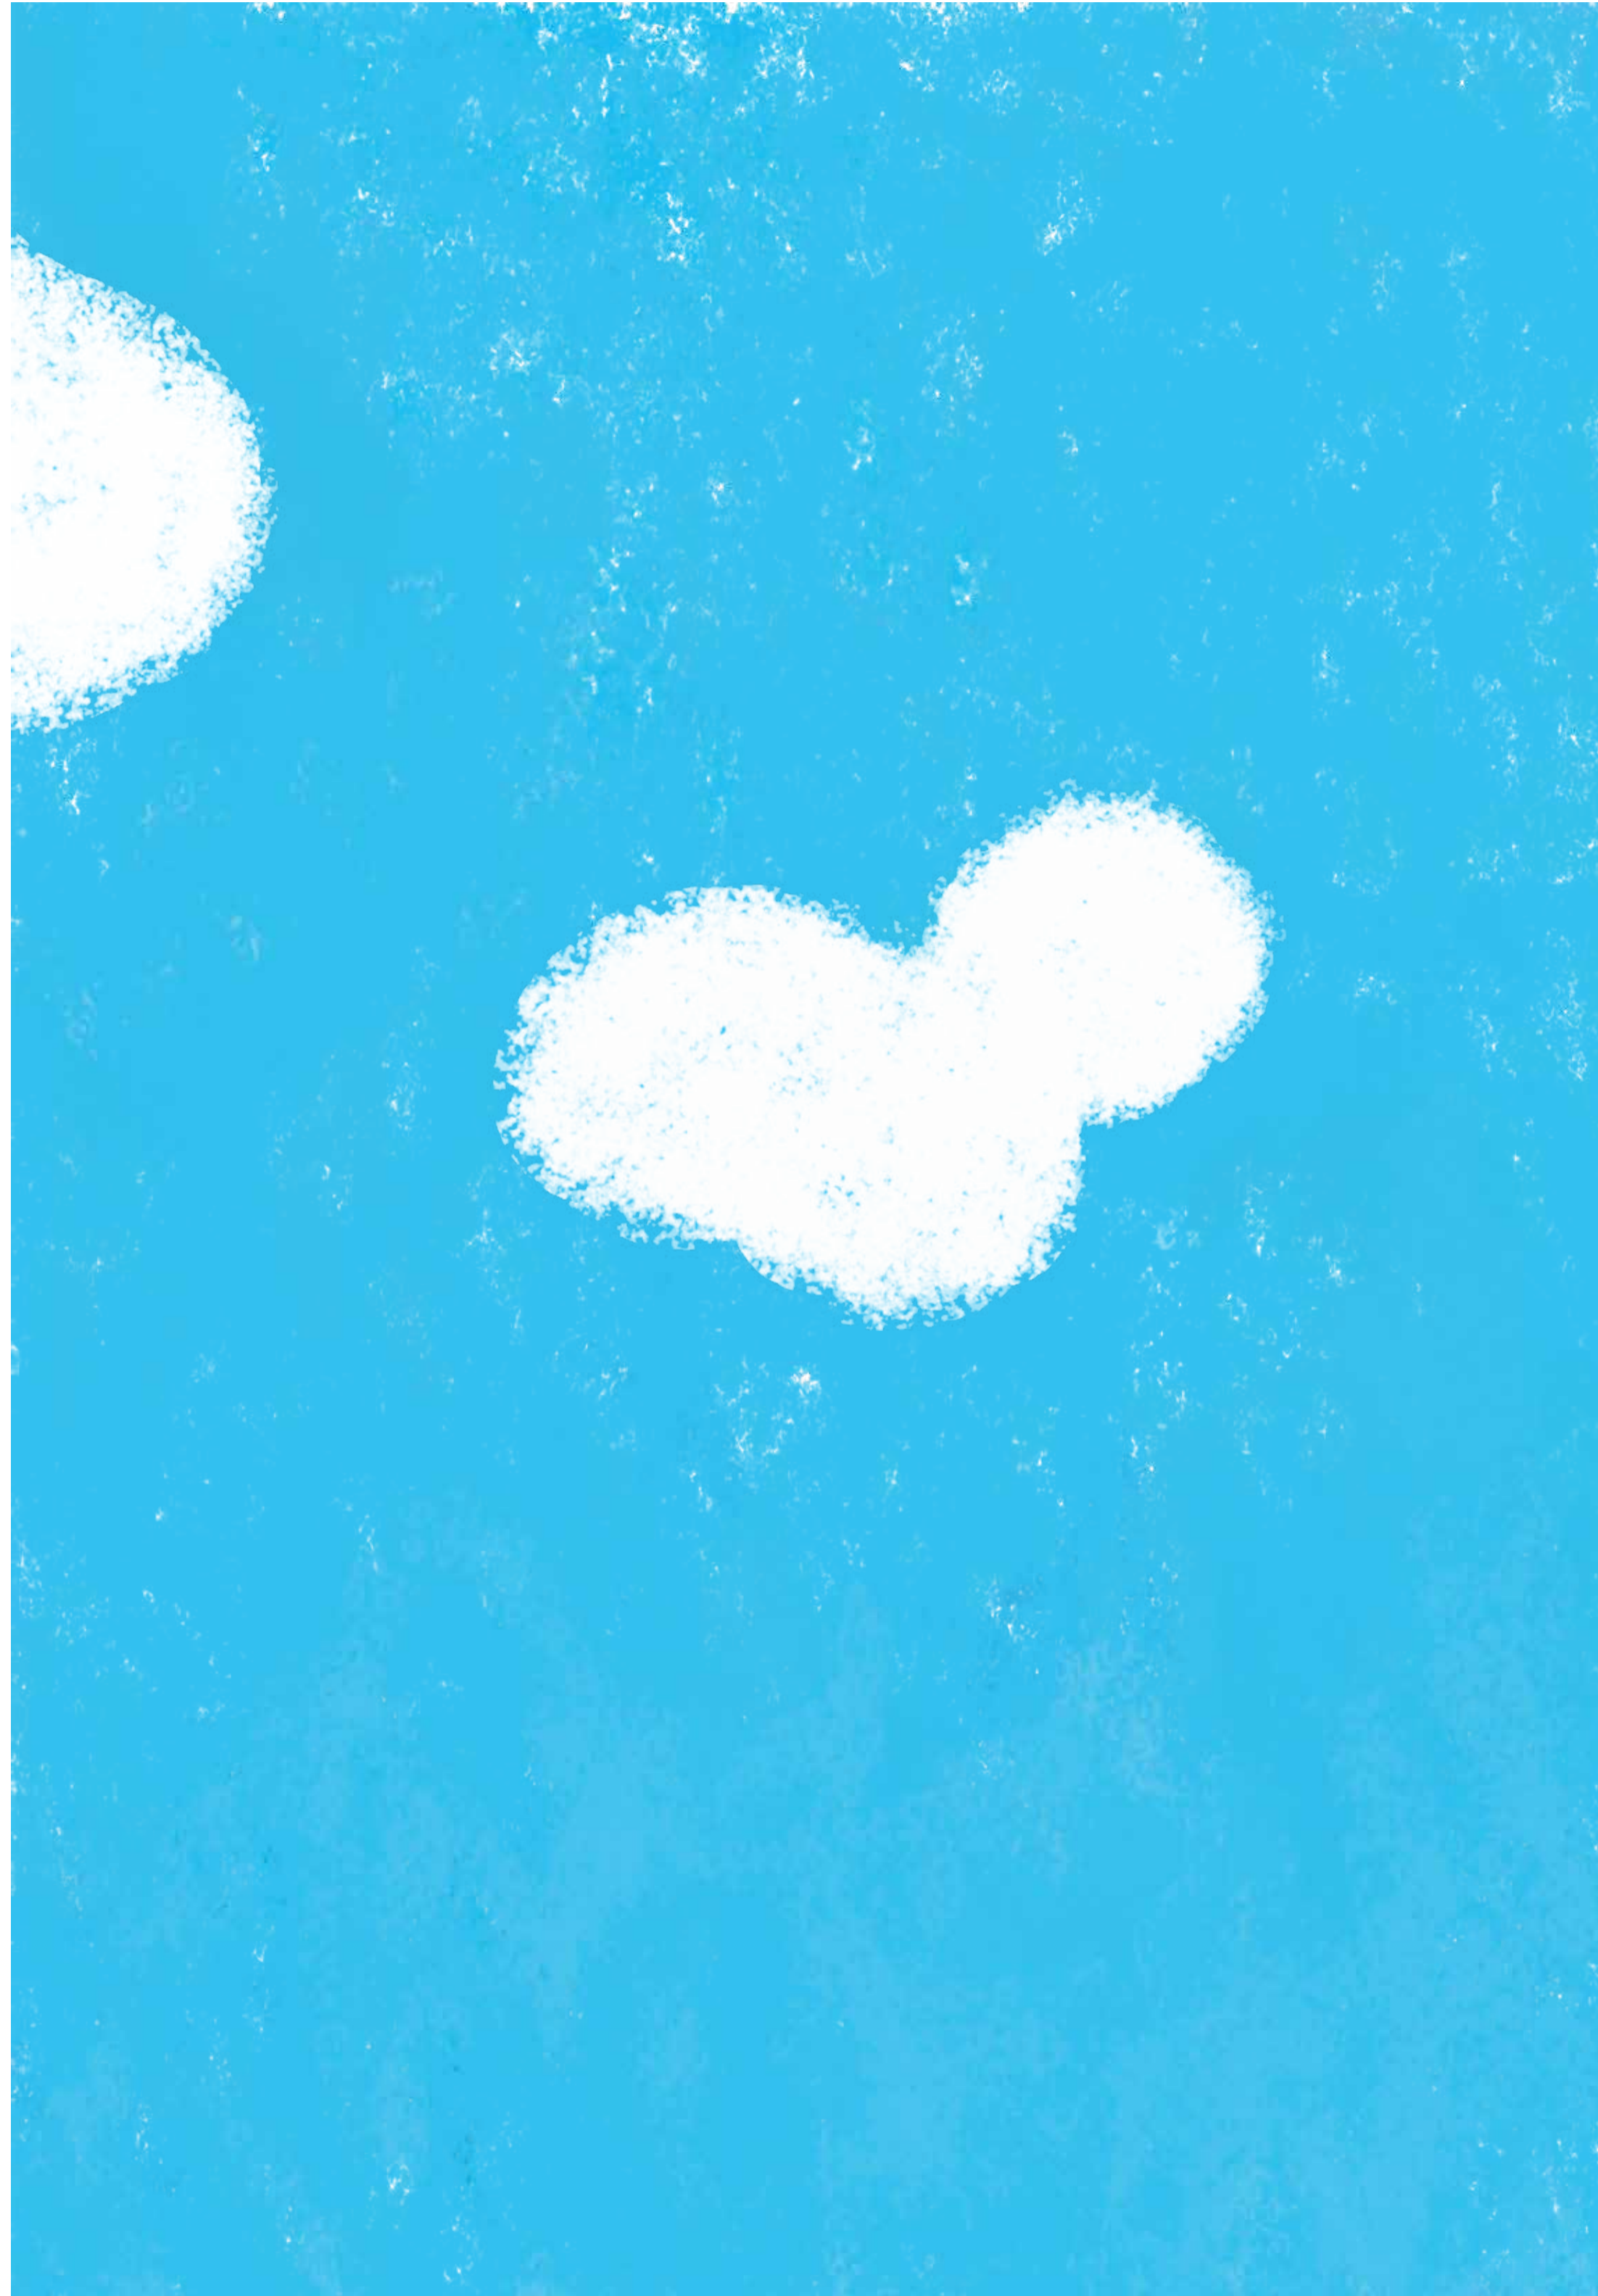

|

Colors of the SKY

Story
Zaheda Parvin

Illustration
Sarah Tune

One morning Elmo wakes up from sleep and sees a beautiful morning! Everywhere, it looks bright and clear blue sky. He hears the birds chirping outside and feels the sun on his skin. Elmo says, "Hmmm....I wonder why this is happening?"

He runs to the window and looks up and sees a very beautiful, blue sky with few white clouds.

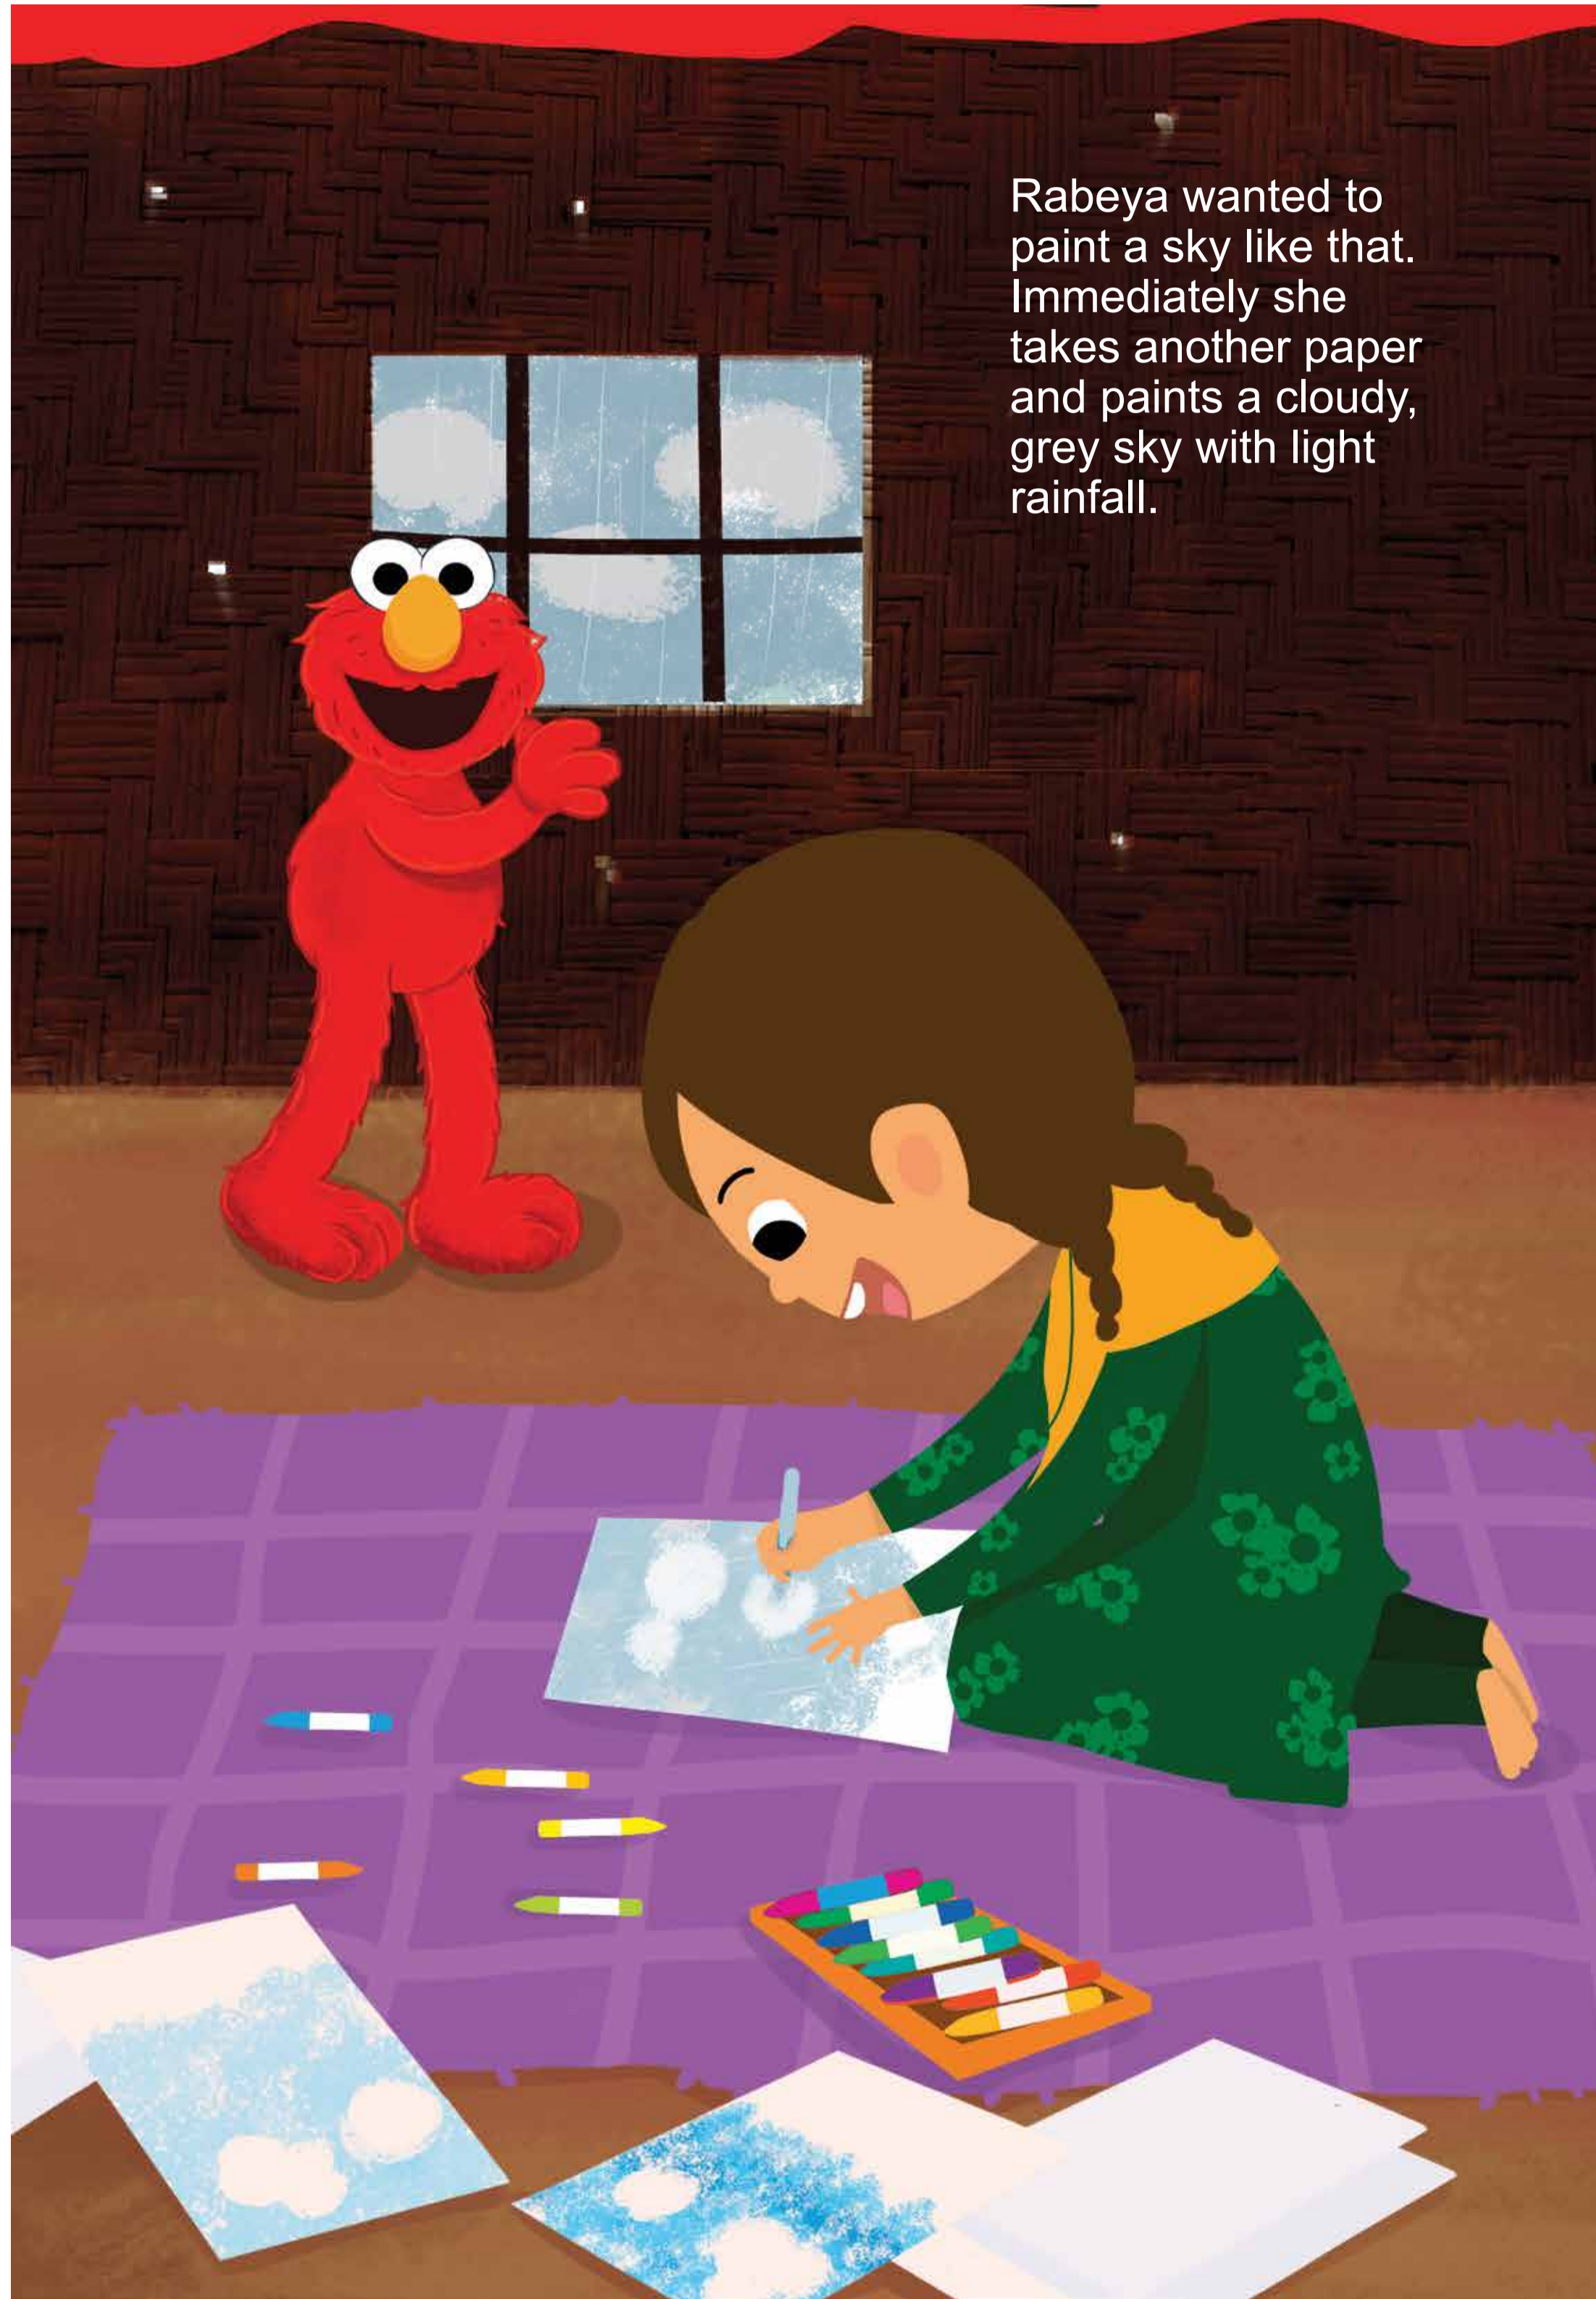

Rabeya comes to play at Elmo's home. Immediately, he takes out his favorite paint box, paper and pencils, and together they sit to paint a picture. They had great fun painting the blue sky with few white clouds.

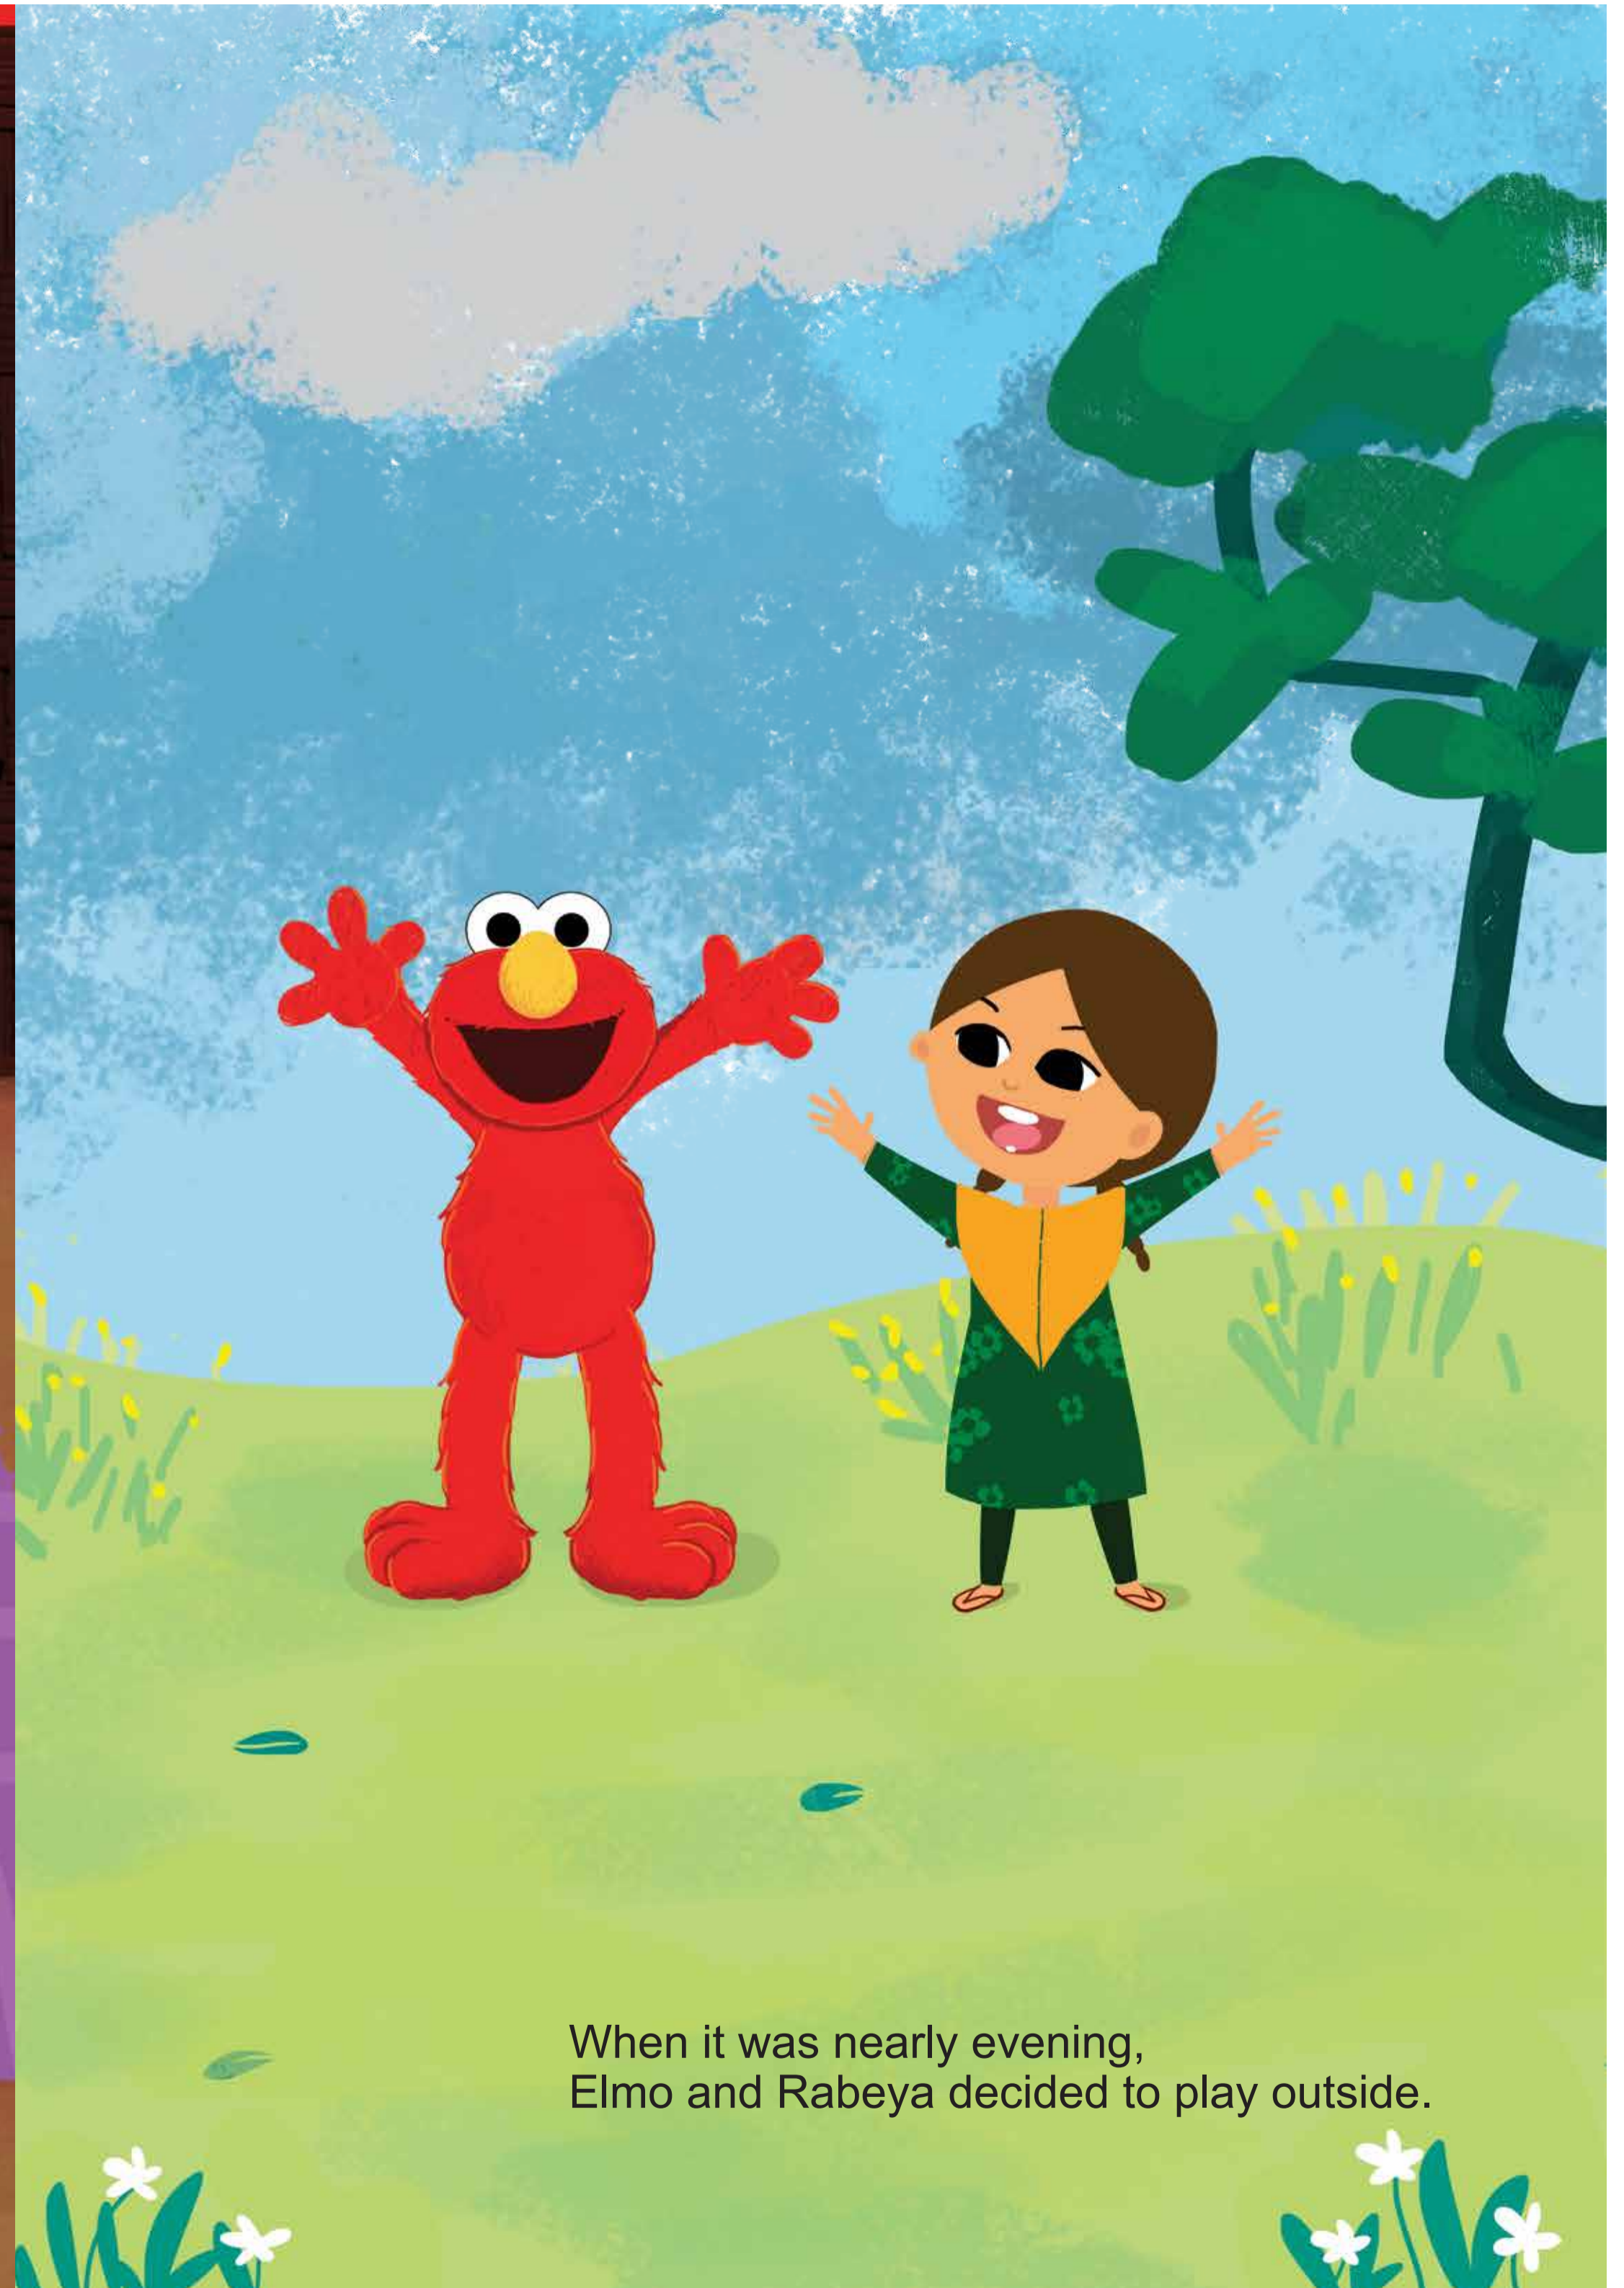

The moment they finish painting the blue sky they noticed that nothing around them is bright anymore. They both wonder, and say, “Hmm...we wonder why this is happening”?

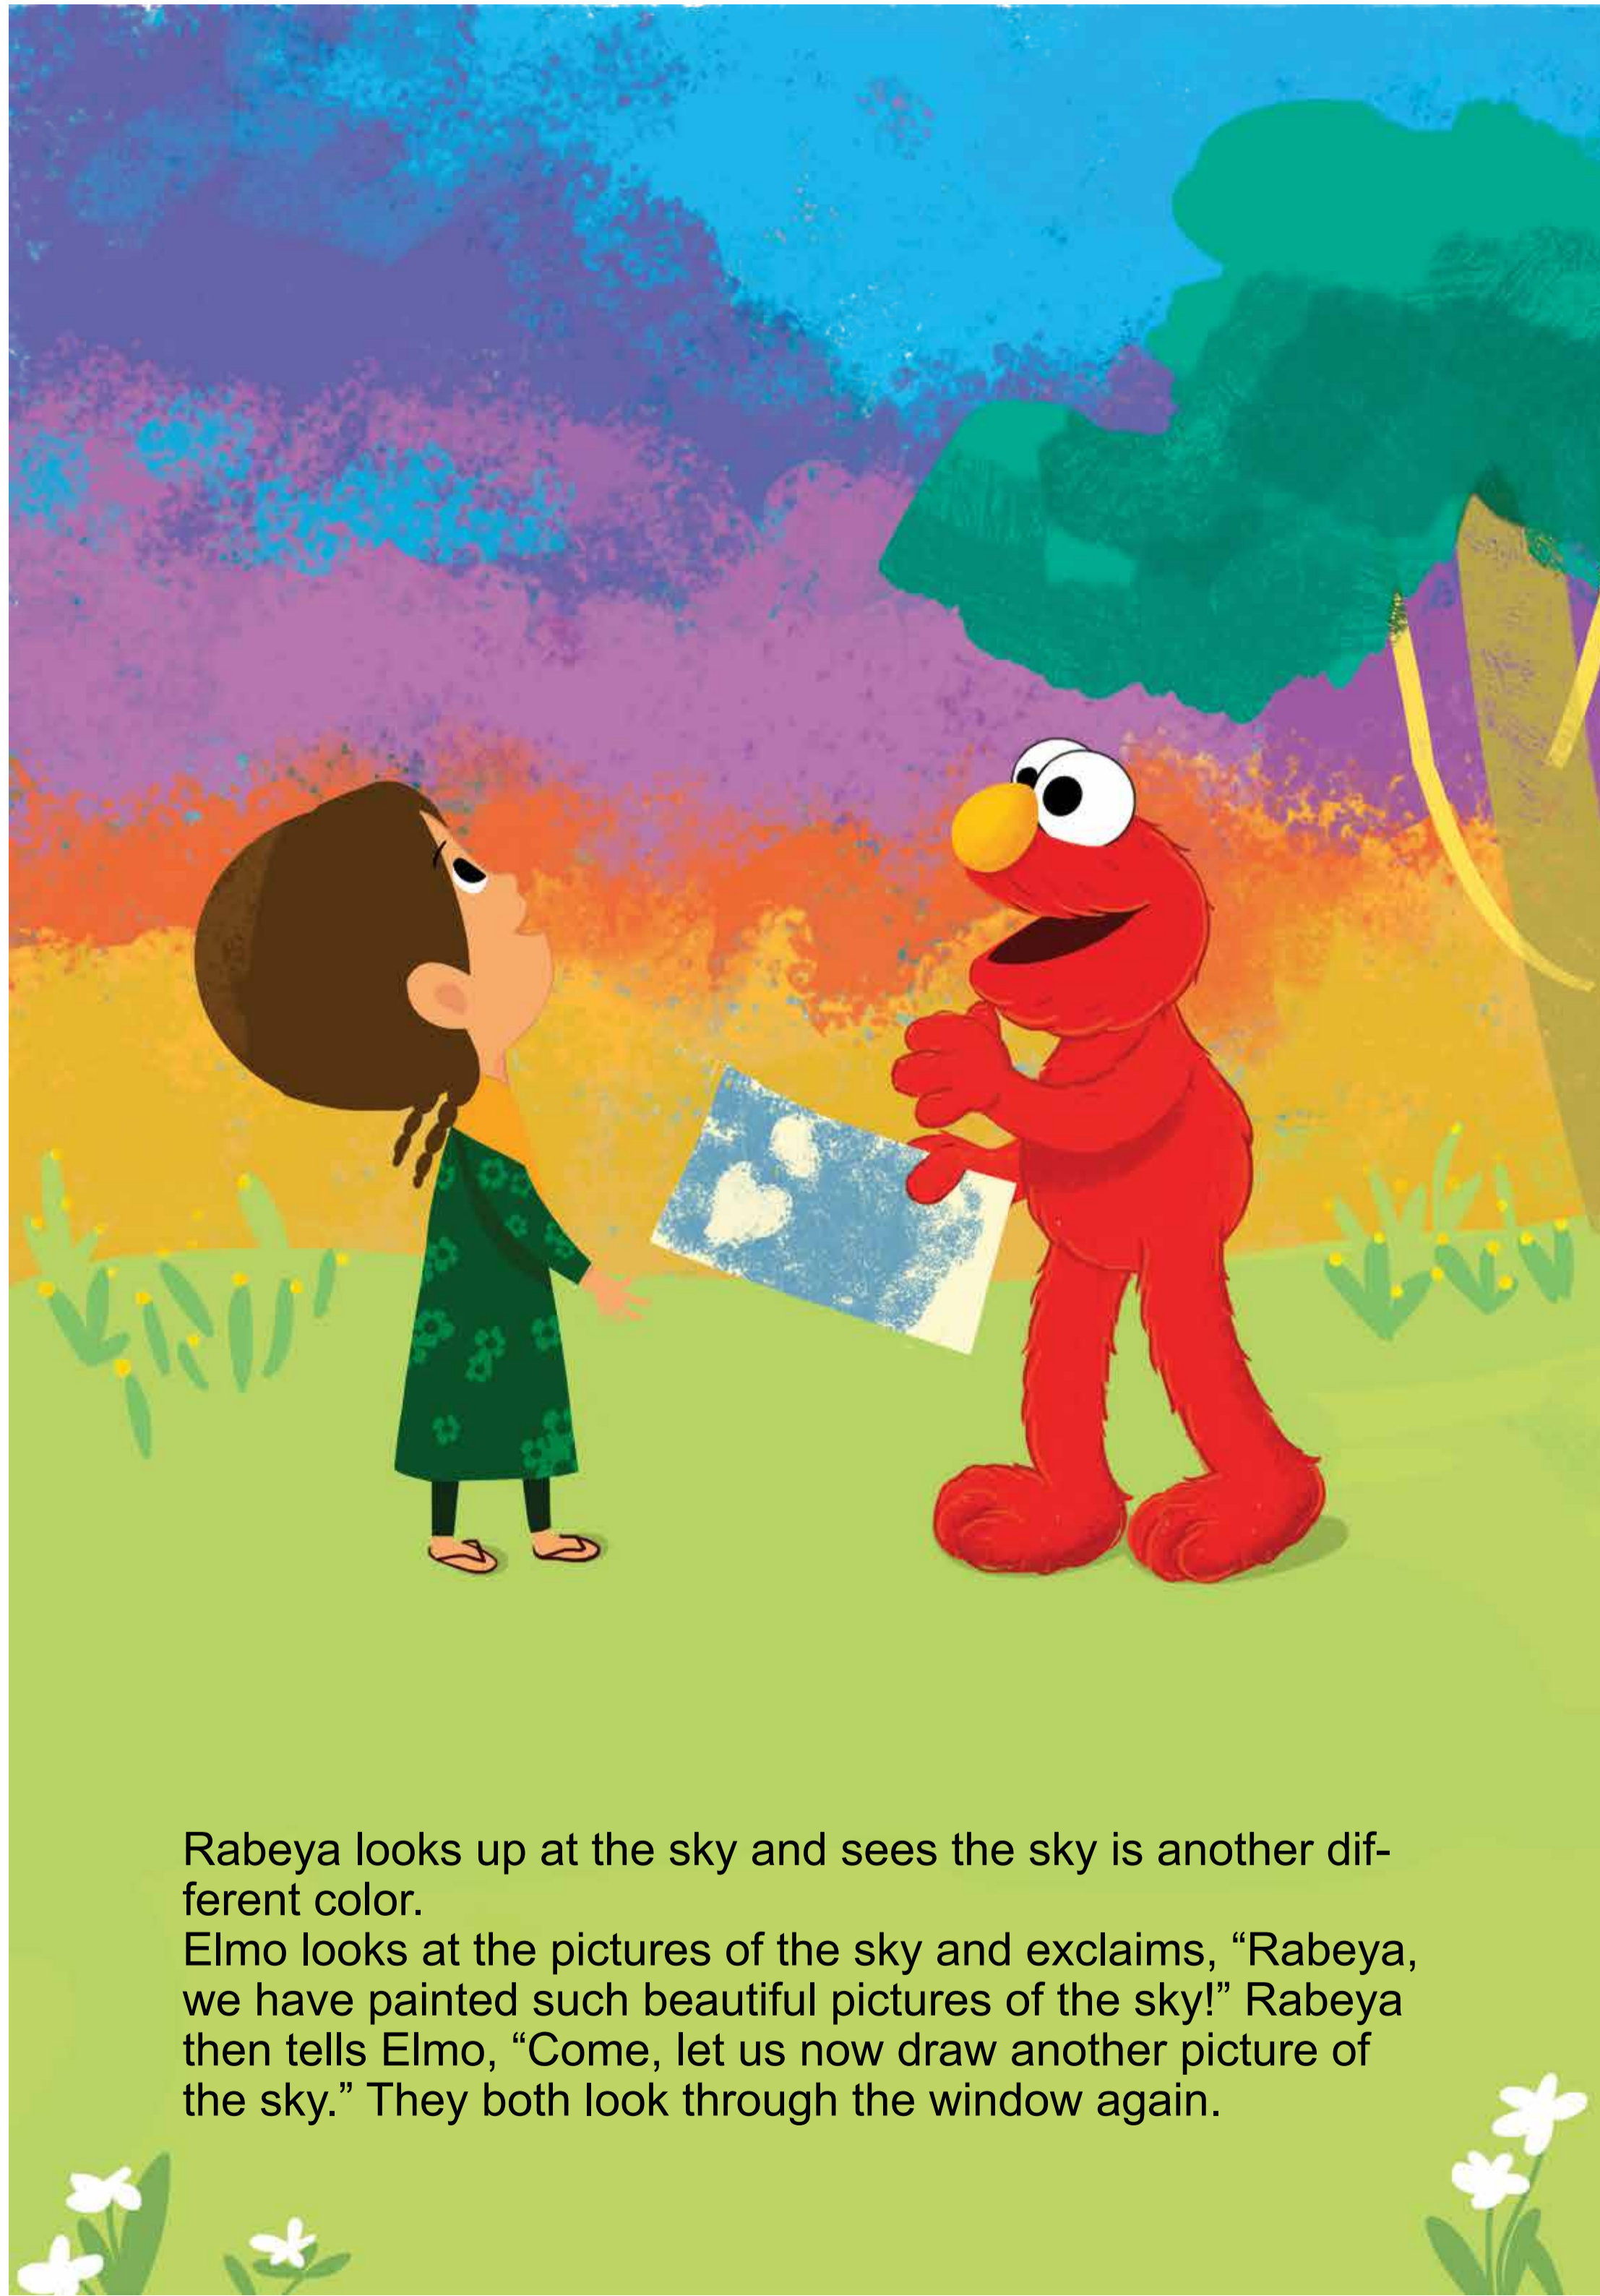

They run to the window again and see that the sky is different again. It's not bright blue but is a bit darker and more of an ash color.

Rabeya wanted to paint a sky like that. Immediately she takes another paper and paints a cloudy, grey sky with light rainfall.

When it was nearly evening, Elmo and Rabeya decided to play outside.

Rabeya looks up at the sky and sees the sky is another different color.
Elmo looks at the pictures of the sky and exclaims, "Rabeya, we have painted such beautiful pictures of the sky!" Rabeya then tells Elmo, "Come, let us now draw another picture of the sky." They both look through the window again.

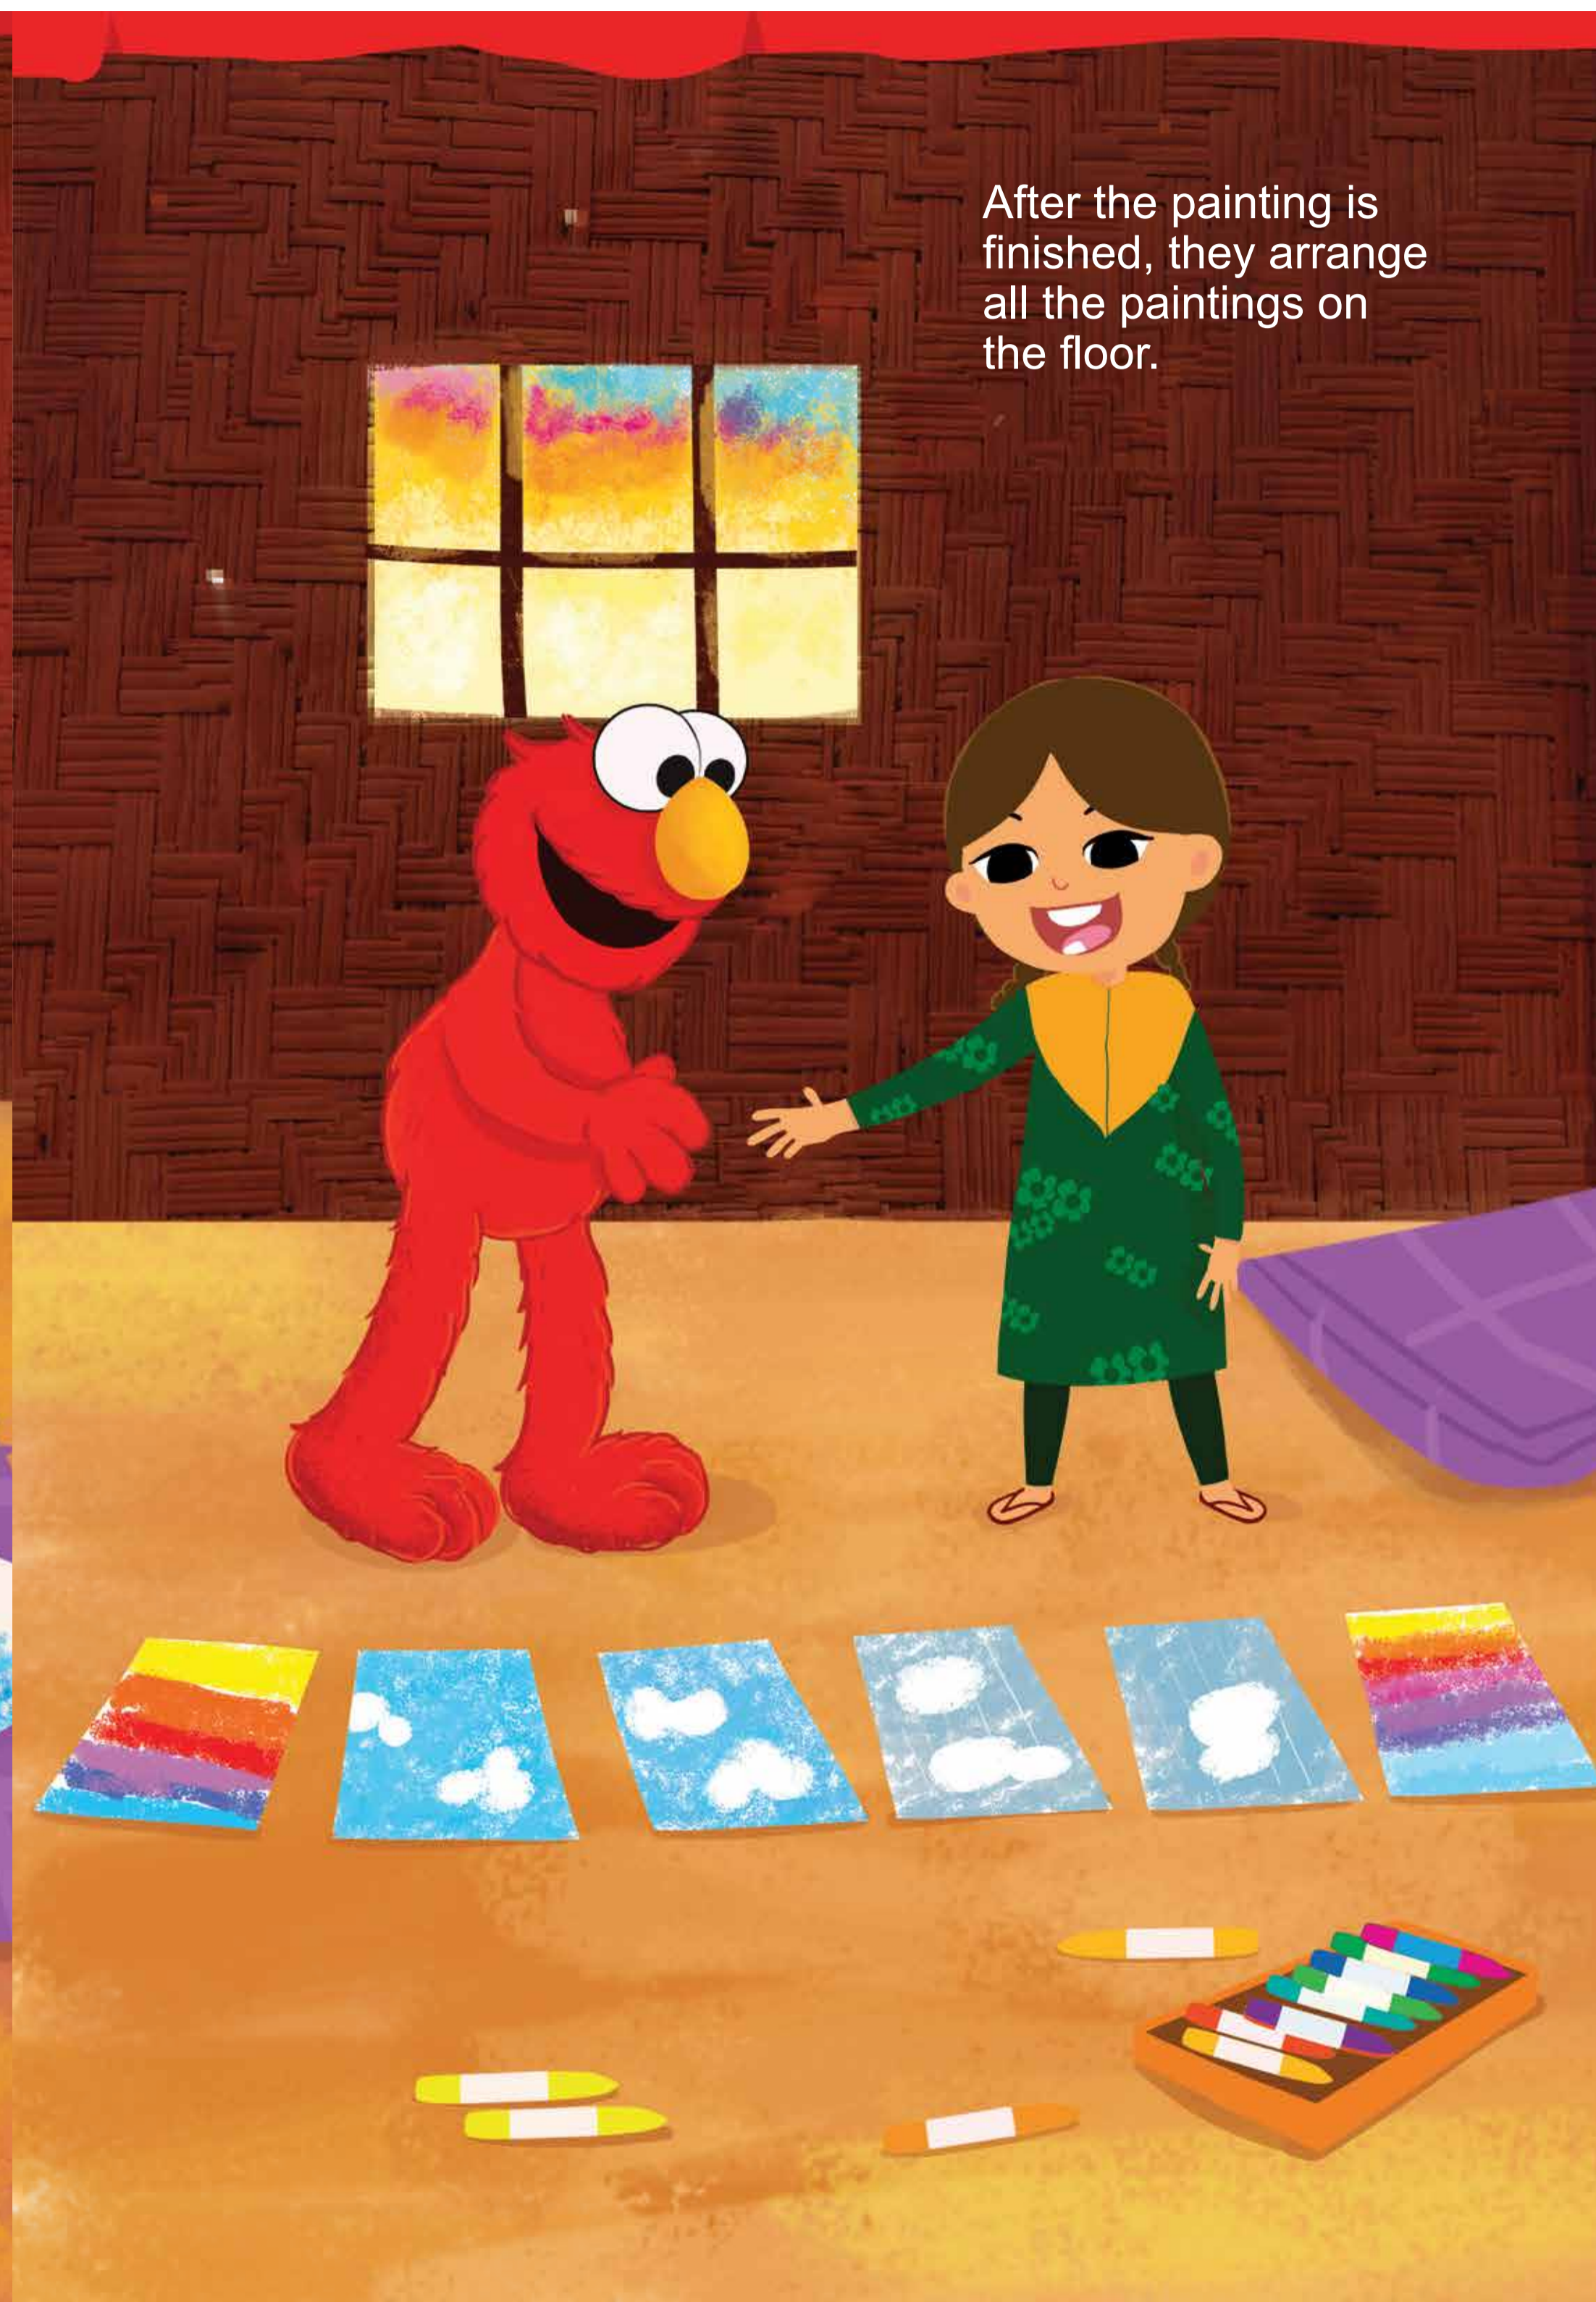

They go near the window and both of them are amazed! The sun is setting and one side of the sky has turned white, blue, pink, purple, yellow, orange and many other different colors. They both exclaimed.
"Hmm...we wonder why this happening is?"

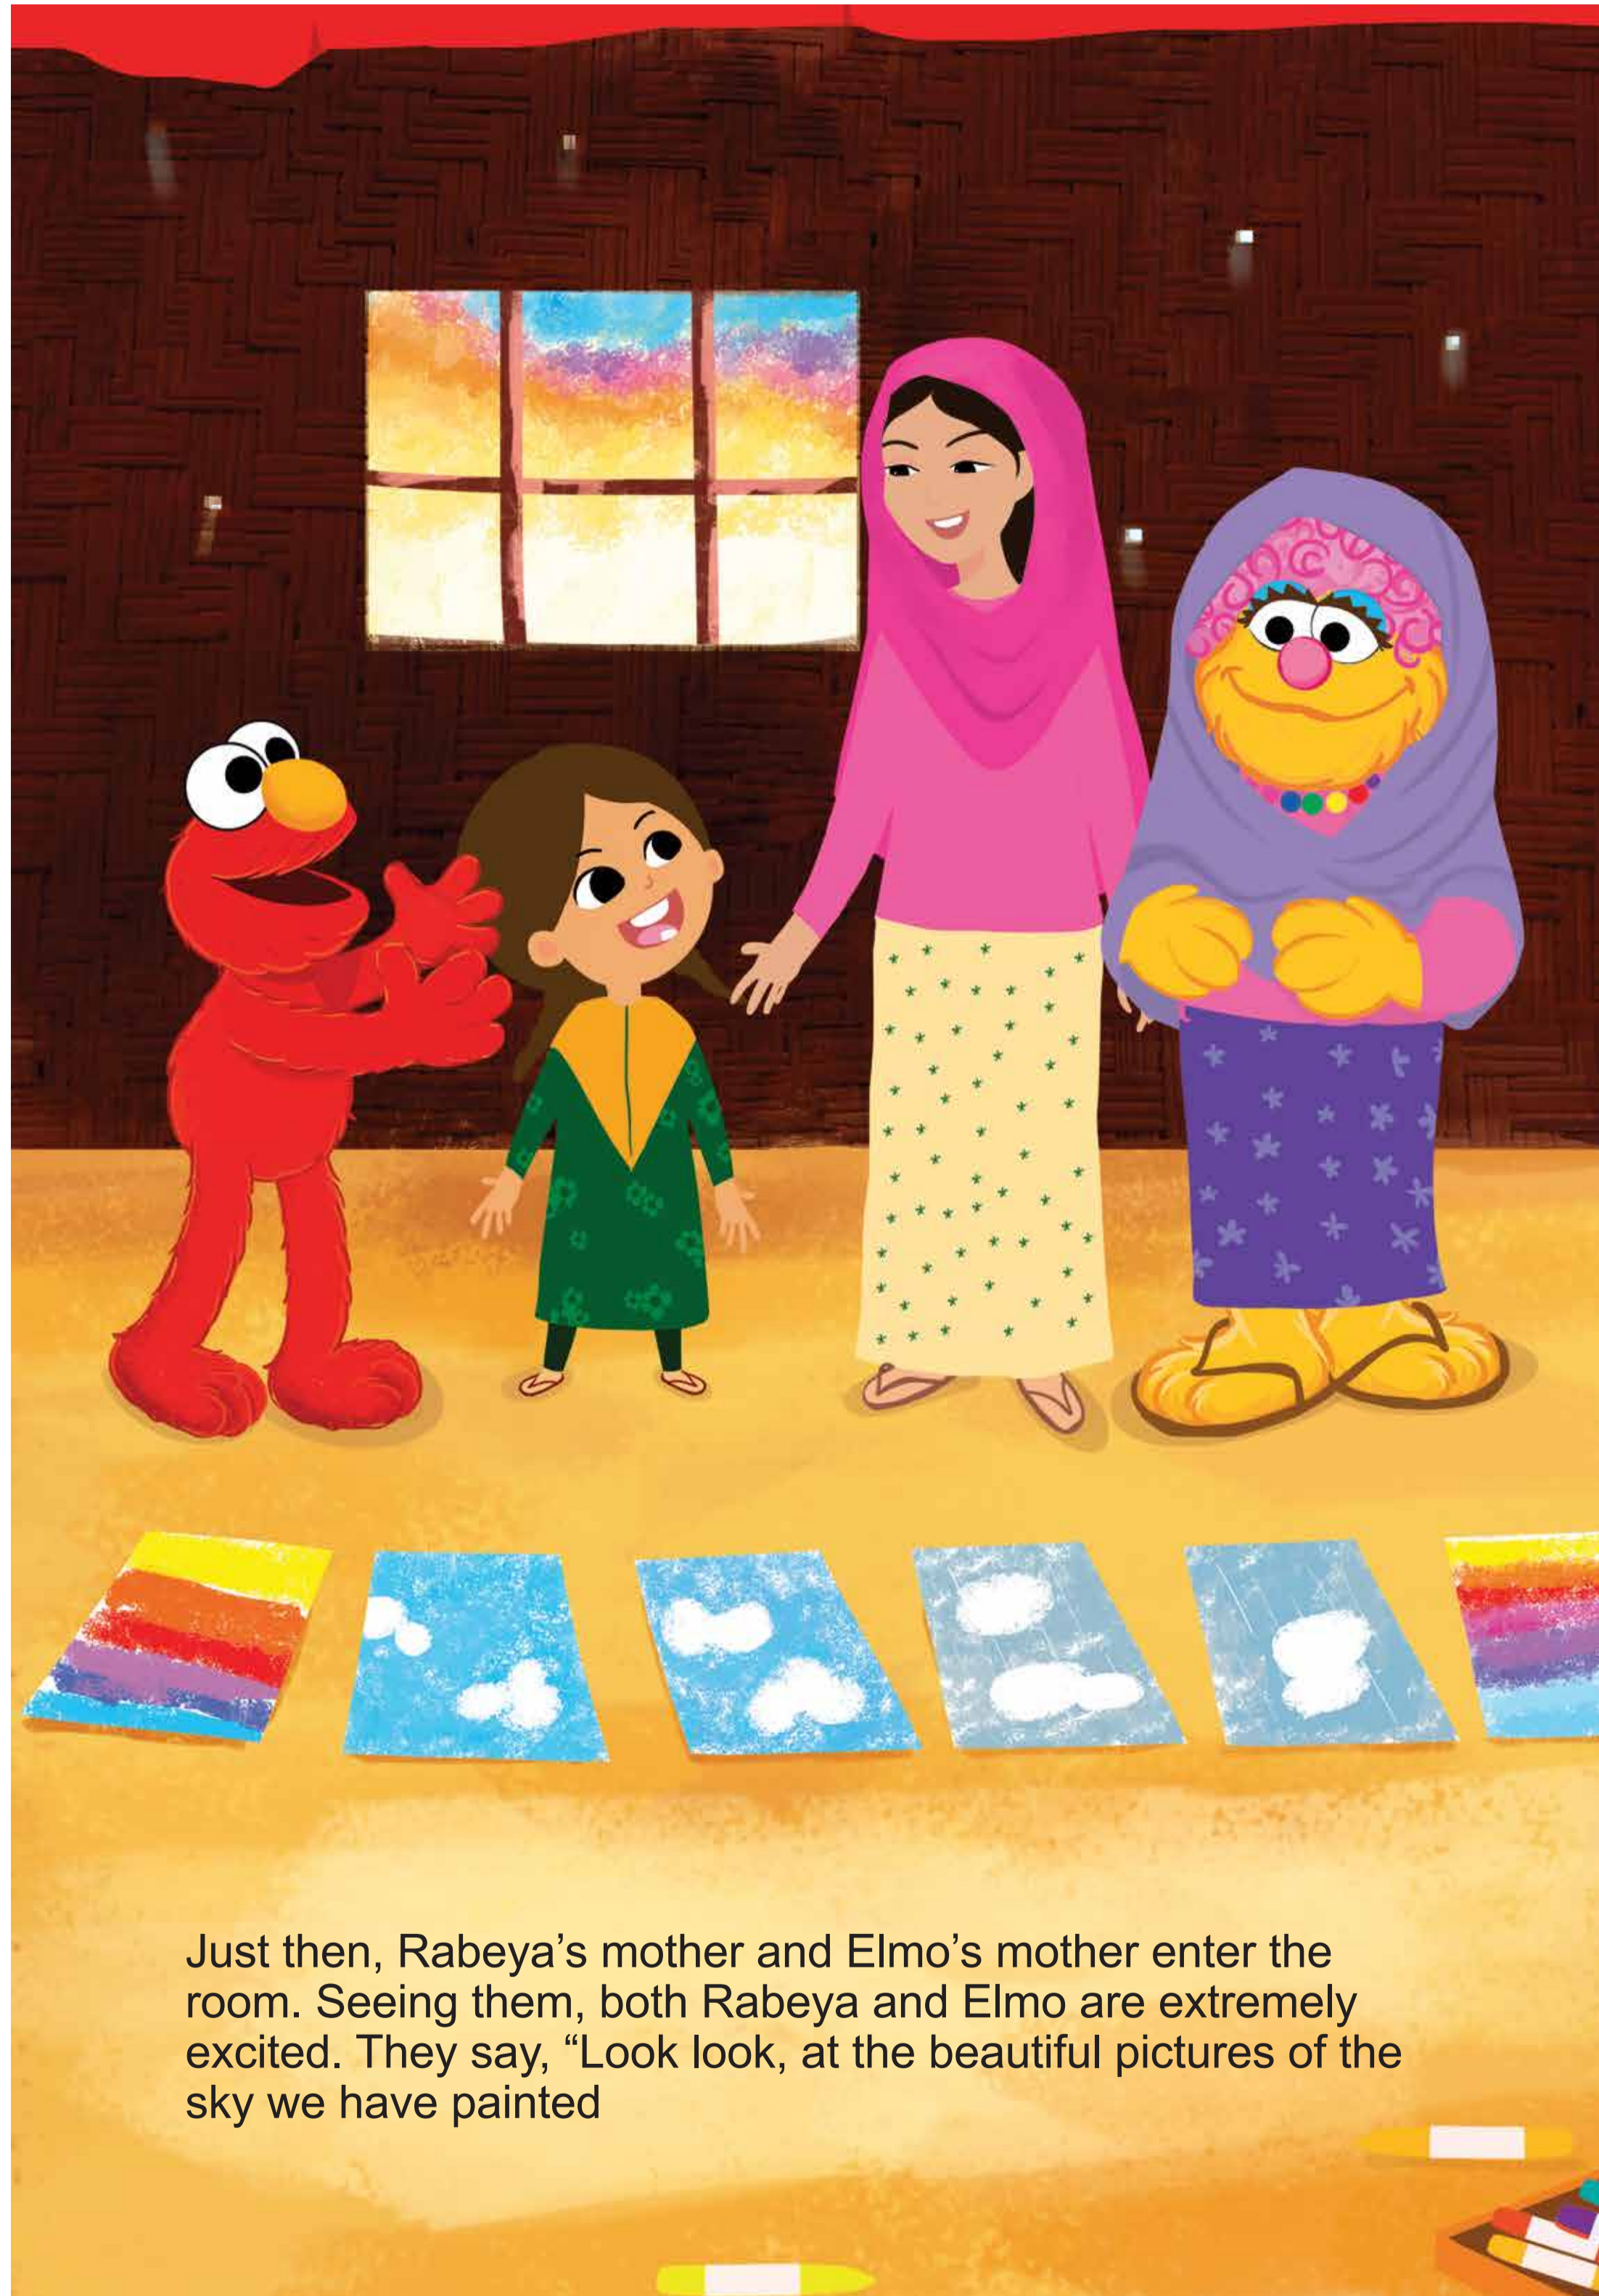

Elmo says, "Come, let us both try to paint the sky like this."

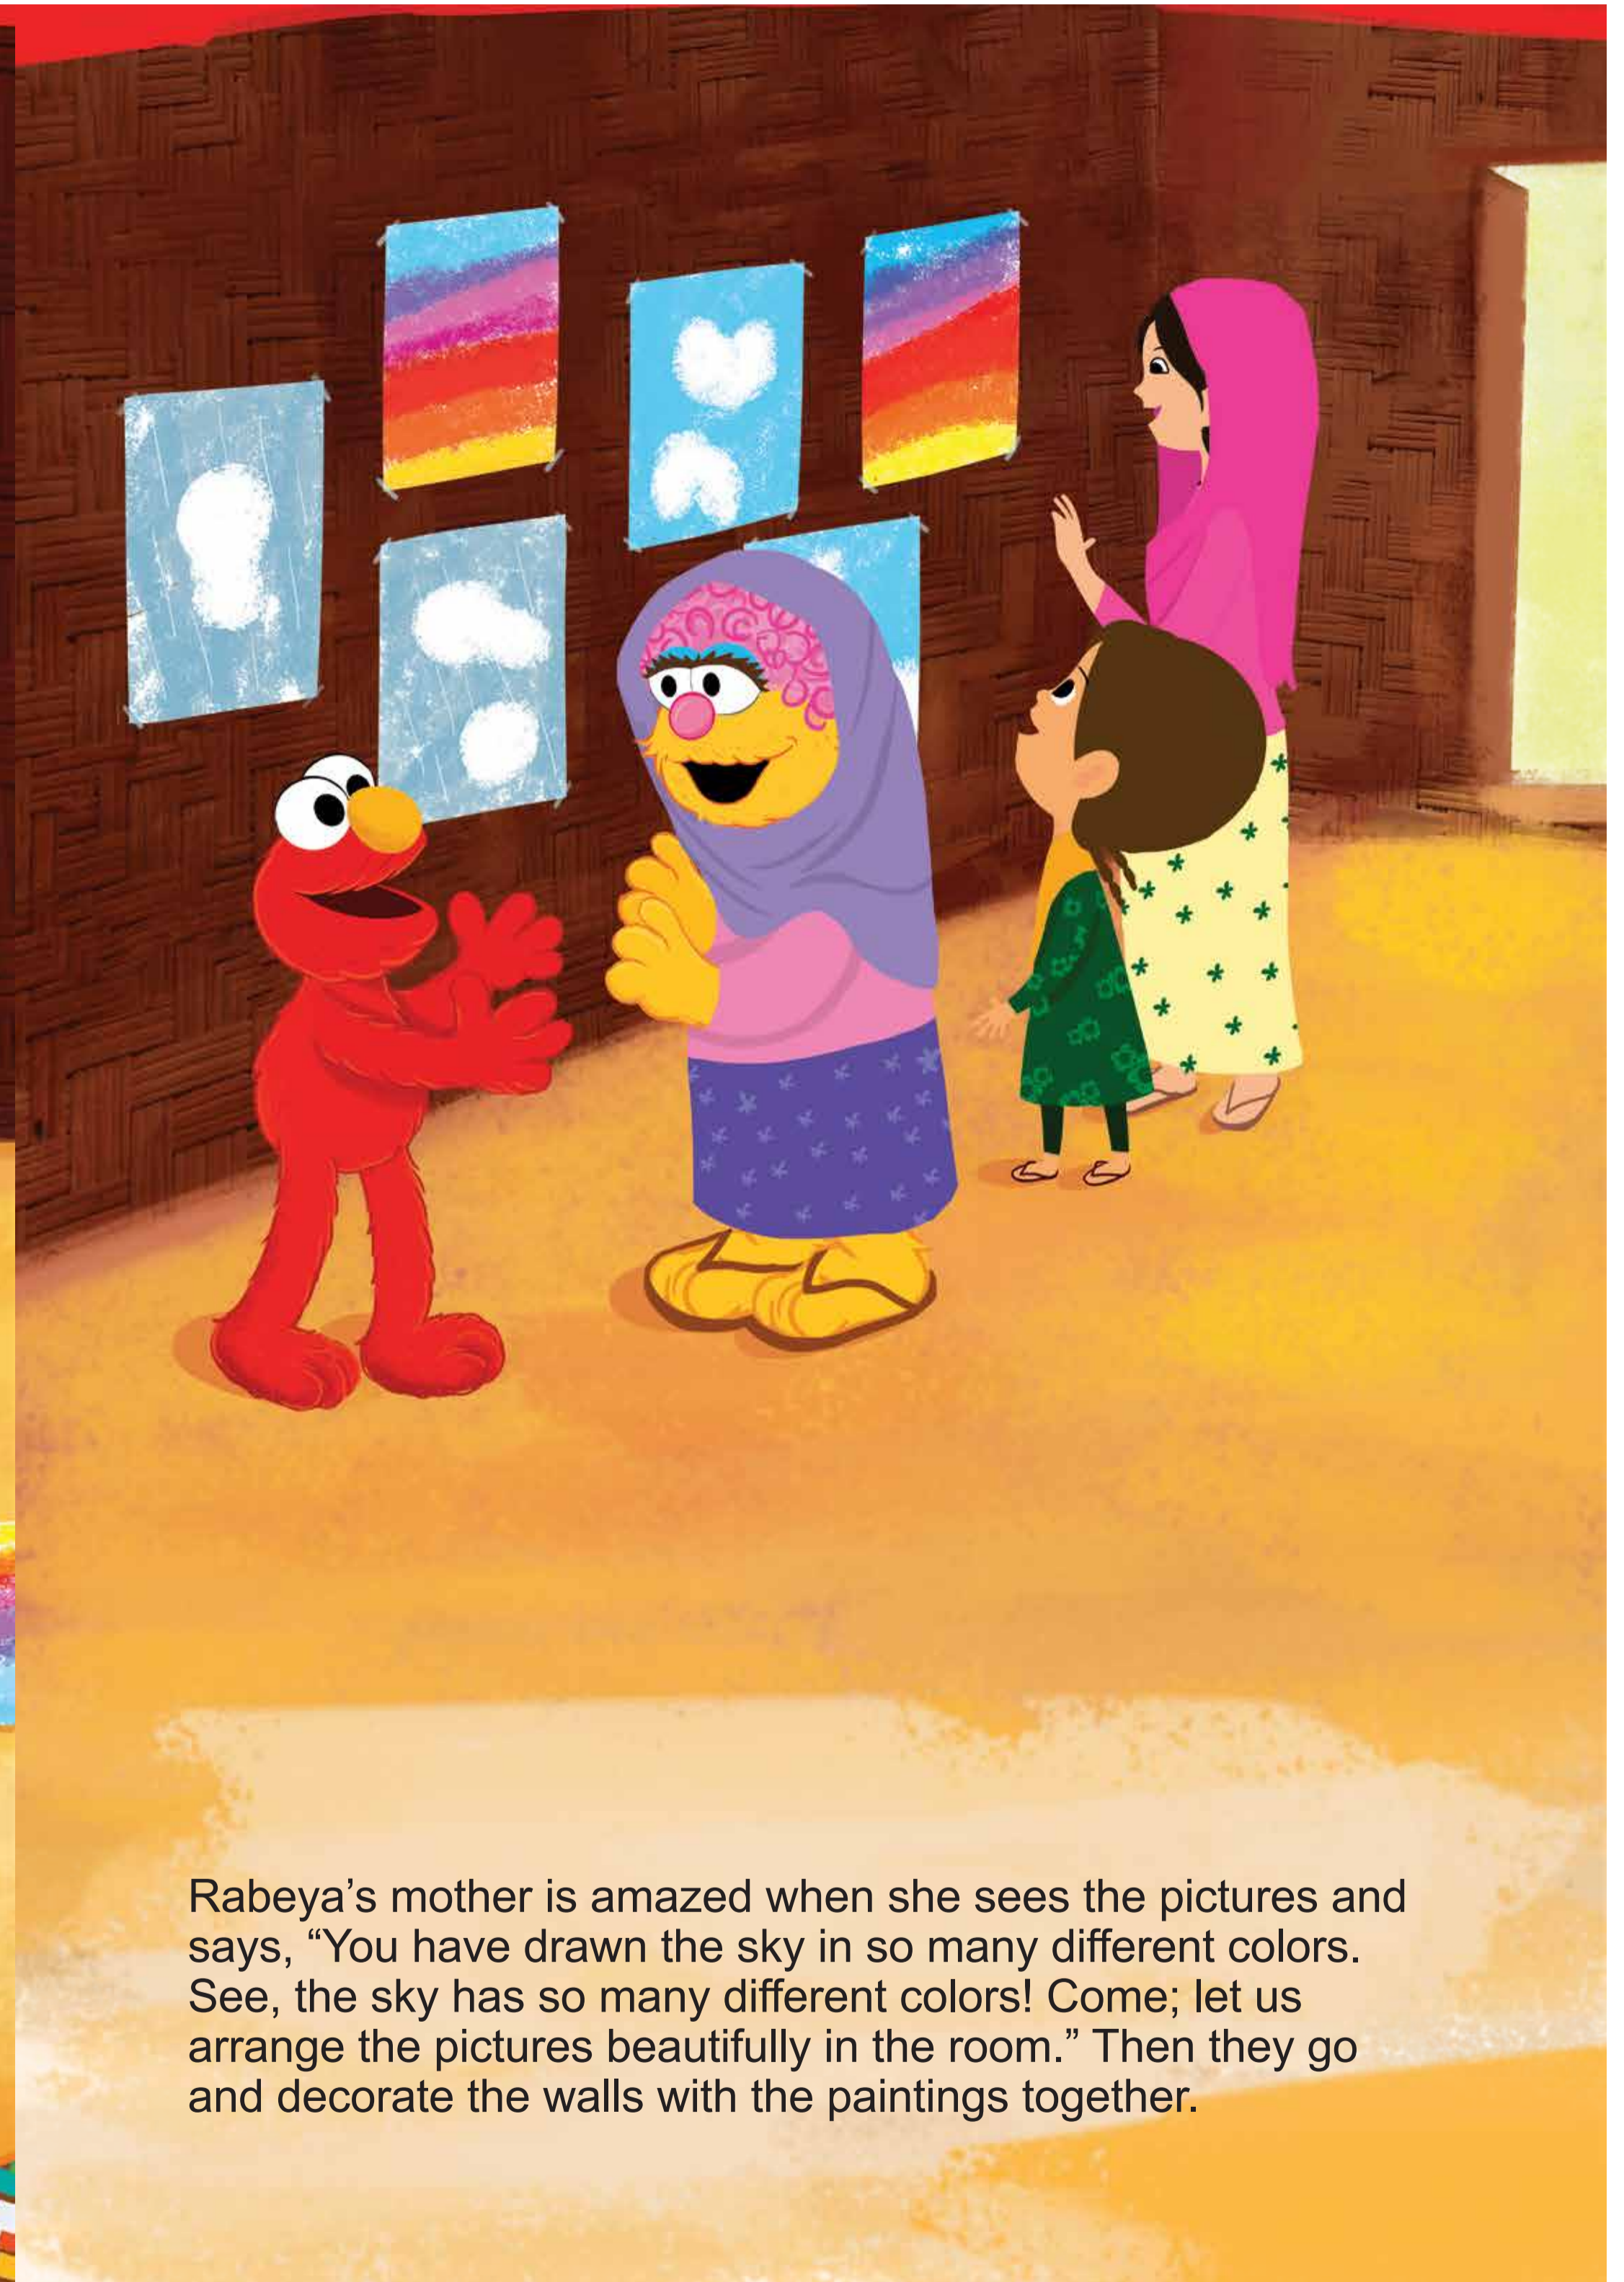

After the painting is finished, they arrange all the paintings on the floor.

Just then, Rabeya's mother and Elmo's mother enter the room. Seeing them, both Rabeya and Elmo are extremely excited. They say, "Look look, at the beautiful pictures of the sky we have painted Rabeya's mother is amazed when she sees the pictures and says, "You have drawn the sky in so many different colors. See, the sky has so many different colors! Come; let us arrange the pictures beautifully in the room." Then they go and decorate the walls with the paintings together.

Elmo and Rabeyaasks,
“Hmm... we wonder what the sky will look like tomorrow??”

